An Unpublished Letter

Dear Ann Landers:

In a recent column someone stated, “No one knows for certain what causes homosexuality.” I know, and I am about to tell you. First, I quote again from you: “The experts whose opinions I respect believe that one’s sexuality is determined by one of the following factors: hormonal, genetic, psychological, social, or a combination of all four.”

Neither you nor your “experts” thought to consult the Bible to see what God has declared to be the real cause of homosexuality and many other sins.

In Romans chapter one, the inspired apostle Paul described a sinful people who lived like many in our society. Among other things, he speaks of women who “exchanged the natural use for what is against nature” and then says, “And likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lusts toward one another, men with men committing what is shameful, and receiving in themselves the penalty of their error which was due.”

To what did he attribute this “alternate life style” as it is now described? Answer: They “exchanged the truth of God for a lie” and “did not like to retain God in their knowledge” (Rom. 1:25, 28). Those who acknowledge God and believe the Bible live as God intended for men and women to live, and, therefore, do not practice homosexuality! Let’s tell it like it is, and stop believing the “opinions” of those who want to free people of any responsibility for the way they live.
